Insects AND YOUR HEALTH
THE DANGER
There is far more danger in the lack of use of pesticides than in the proper usage. If every home owner honestly knew the risks he is taking with his family by not using professional pest control service, I am sure our office staff could not answer the phone calls tomorrow. For, this is what is happening in many homes. Home owners simply do not understand. That is why I always ask all of my readers to stop in or let us come to your home and talk with you. We'd like to explain the health hazards you are risking . . . the damage possible to your home or to your clothing. And we'd also like to tell you just how inexpensive it is to eliminate this hazardous problem.
THE CURE
There is a solution to every problem. You have a choice. You do not necessarily have to call in professional help to eliminate a pest problem. If you know what to do . . . if you have the proper chemicals and know how to use them safely and effectively . . . if you have the time and the patience . . . then you can do it yourself. But . . . by the time you buy the chemicals . . . study the directions . . . and then buy the proper equipments . . . you have probably already spent more than a pest control service would cost you . . . and the job you have done for yourself is more than likely not nearly as efficient or dependable . . . to say nothing of all the fuss and muss and time.
